I thought that it was about time,
To sit and write another rhyme.
We miss the people we've not seen,
Due to this damn, Covid-19.

When Covid started, we thought it hype,
But now we just rely on Skype*
And never in my wildest dreams,
I'd now be using MS Teams*.

Infection numbers they did grow,
From Cardiff Bay to Llandudno.
And this did cause us all to frown,
As we now faced the first lockdown.

Our jobs some thought, were on the line,
'Till our Director's said, "Your fine."
With grateful hearts we give them thanks,
As wages flow into our banks.

The distancing was quite a pain,
And slowly driving me insane.

I dreamt of going for a ride,
No longer being stuck inside.

The Senior Team all played their part,
And stayed two metres far apart.
To keep us safe, despite the odds,
Our Hot Desk turned to single pods.

Quality will give support,
When systems don't do as they ought.
"Please call for help, with issues ailing."
Least that's what they did keep emailing.

I sat and pondered all alone,
While wondering, who I should phone
What lucky persons out there yearning,
To hear from me to drive their learning.

We do our part to help the nation,
By building up a strong relation.
Through listening to our Learner's views,
And guide them through their NVQs.

So, through it all we battle on,
Hoping Covid will soon be gone.
But none of us you hear complaining.
For after all, we are Talk training.
